John Craig practiced at the Canadian law firm of Bennett Jones LLP from 1987 to 2022 (with a 3-year sabbatical from 2015-2018). During his time at Bennett Jones, he focused primarily on resolving national and international disputes through negotiation, mediation, arbitration and litigation. He has appeared as counsel before trial and appellate courts in Canada, including the Supreme Court of Canada, and in many mediations and ad hoc and institutional arbitrations. He has also acted as both a mediator and arbitrator in a wide variety of matters. While he has been involved in all types of commercial disputes his primary focus has been on construction disputes and related matters.

From 2023 to 2025 John acted as Area Legal Counsel for the Europe North Area of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, based in London England, where he oversaw the Church's legal work throughout Northern Europe by retaining and instructing outside counsel on corporate and regulatory compliance, tax, employment, visa and immigration, real estate, construction, charitable law and religious freedom issues.

Over the years John has been recognized nationally and internationally by multiple client and peer review publications.

Active as a volunteer, John is a former director of the Alberta Roadbuilders and Heavy Construction Association and of the Arthritis Society. He has also been actively involved in volunteer and leadership positions in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.
